DECISION -
CTA CASE NO. 4072

Petitioner is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Republic of the Philippines, with principal office at the Philamlife Building, United Nations Avenue, Ermita, Manila. On June 21, 1984, petitioner received from respondent a pre-assessment notice for unpaid documentary and science stamp taxes on life insurance policies issued during the year 1978 in the amount of P4,613,794.28.

On June 26, 1984 petitioner protested the pre-assessment on grounds of prescription and lack of factual and legal basis, and requested the withdrawal and cancellation of the assessment by respondent. However, on July 18, 1984 petitioner received a combination tax clearance-assessment letter from respondent informing petitioner that while no deficiency business tax was found to be due from petitioner, documentary and science stamp taxes in the amount of P4,613,794.28 were found to be still due and collectible from it. Again, petitioner on August 16, 1984 protested the aforesaid assessment on grounds of payment, prescription and lack of factual and legal basis. On May 26, 1986, however, petitioner received a letter from respondent denying its protest or request for reconsideration and reiterating that said assessment be settled.

Hence, this appeal.

As special and affirmative defenses, respondent in his answer to the petition for review alleges that:

Per investigation conducted by agents of the respondent and per records furnished by the petitioner, petitioner is liable in the amount of P4,613,794.28 as deficiency documentary and science stamps taxes on life insurance policies issued during the year 1978;

During the investigation of this case by respondent's examiners, petitioner failed to show official receipts of documentary and science stamp taxes pursuant to P.D. 1045 approved on November 5, 1976 as implemented by Revenue Regulations No. 9-75 (38-76) dated November 25, 1976;

As no tax return is filed for documentary stamp tax purposes, the case falls within the coverage of exceptions to the then 5-year period of limitation of assessment under Section 319 of the 1977 Tax Code (now Section 269). Hence, respondent has 10 years from discovery of the omission to affix the documentary and science stamp taxes on petitioner's insurance policies. In this case, the omission was discovered on March 12, 1984 per examiner's report, consequently, respondent has up to March 12, 1994 within which to issue the assessment. As the assessment was issued on July 10, 1984 petitioner was assessed within the period. (Commissioner vs. Ayala Securities Corp. & The Honorable Court of Tax Appeals, G.R. No. L-29485, November 21, 1980, 101 SCRA 231-242)

The assessment in question was issued in accordance with law and revenue regulations;

All presumptions are in favor of the correctness of the assessment.

On the question of prescription, the rule now established is that if there is no law or regulation requiring the filing of a return, the right of the Government to assess or collect national internal revenue tax does not prescribe. Limitations upon the right of the government to assess and collect taxes will not be presumed in the absence of clear legislation to the contrary and where the government has not by express statutory provision provided a limitation upon its right to assess unpaid taxes, such right is imprescriptible. (Commissioner of Internal Revenue vs. Ayala Securities Corporation, L-29485, November 21, 1980, 101 SCRA 231.) Since there is no law or regulation requiring the filing of a return for documentary stamp tax, and none has been pointed to by petitioner, and stamp taxes are national internal revenue taxes, the right of the Government to assess or collect the documentary and science stamp taxes involved in this case does not therefore prescribe.

Petitioner maintains however that it has fully paid all documentary and science stamp taxes due on the insurance policies it issued in the year 1978. And the evidence presented by petitioner, which was not disputed or controverted by respondent, shows that petitioner made the following payments of documentary stamp taxes in the year 1978:

			P2,160,000.00

On the basis of the evidence presented, it seems plain that petitioner has paid documentary and science stamp taxes due on insurance policies issued by it during the year 1978 in the total amount of P4,600,000.00; that is, P2,440,000.00 plus P2,160,000.00. Respondent's assessment for deficiency documentary and science stamp taxes in the year under consideration, however, is in the sum of P4,613,494.28, or a discrepancy of P13,494.28. We have carefully examined the records of this case, but we fail to find any proof which would show the payment of this shortage of P13,494.28. And petitioner has not accounted for or explained this discrepancy or shortage of P13,494.28 from the amount established by the evidence presented by it. All presumptions are in favor of the correctness of respondent's assessment and it is incumbent upon petitioner to prove the contrary. (Commissioner of Internal Revenue vs. Antonio Tuason, Inc., G.R. No. 85749, May 15, 1989, citing Mindanao Bus Company vs. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 1 SCRA 538.) Unfortunately, petitioner failed to overcome the presumption of correctness of respondent's assessment or explain the discrepancy of P13,494.28.

Accordingly, petitioner Philippine American Life Insurance Company is hereby ordered to pay to respondent Commissioner of Internal Revenue the amount of P13,494.28 as deficiency documentary and science stamp taxes on insurance policies issued during the year 1978. The compromise penalty of P300.00 suggested by respondent in his assessment cannot be imposed as it does not appear that petitioner agreed to its imposition. The rule has been established that compromise penalty cannot be imposed or collected without the agreement and conformity of the taxpayer. (Wonder Mechanical
