2. Objectives

The NSM aims to: a) promote, enhance, and instill nationwide awareness and appreciation of the importance and value of statistics to the different sectors of society; and b) elicit the cooperation and support of the general public in upgrading the quality and standard of statistics in the country.

Coinciding with the 36th NSM celebration in October 2025, the 16th NCS will be conducted by the Philippine Statistical System (PSS) from 1 to 3 October 2025 to: a) provide a forum for exchanging ideas and experiences in the field of statistics and for discussing recent statistical developments and prevailing issues and problems of the PSS; and b) elicit the cooperation and support of statisticians and professionals in related fields from the government, academe, and the private sector toward a more responsive statistical system.

3. Theme

The theme of the 36th NSM and 16th NCS is:

“Accelerating the SDG Pace of Progress: Mobilizing Data for All”

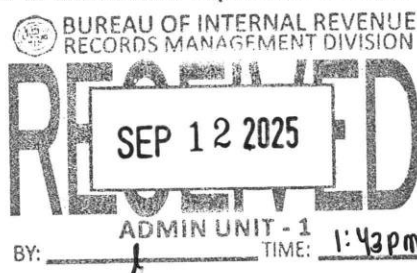

The theme emphasizes the crucial role of data in assessing the country's progress in achieving Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) targets; in identifying fast- as well as slow-moving targets; and in providing sound bases for the crafting of programs and interventions for targets where these are most needed.

Data mobilization is an effective intervention in accelerating the SDG Pace of Progress. It transforms granular data into actionable insights that are crucial to crafting programs and evidence-based decision-making, allocating resources, and monitoring progress that can drive innovation in the development of new technologies and solutions to address SDG challenges. By improving the availability, accessibility, and use of data, we can likewise accelerate the Pace of Progress and ensure that no one shall be left behind.

This theme may be translated into other major Philippine languages and dialects. Depending on the focus and direction of its statistical activities, an agency or region may choose to have its own sub-theme.

4. Suggested activities

The observance of the NSM will be highlighted by a diverse range of month-long statistical activities. These activities may be in various formats including symposia, workshops, orientation seminars, exhibits, slide shows, webinars, conferences, podcasts, quizzes/contests (such as poster making, jingle making, statiktok and photography contest), outdoor activities (such as fun run, biking), audio-visual presentations, streamers, dashboards, and other digital display as well as publication of statistical reports, indicators, and other relevant information, among others, with particular emphasis on statistics, the theme and the agency's/region's sub-theme, if any.

The NSM celebration will be highlighted by interagency activities such as the 36th NSM Opening and Closing Ceremony, PSS Outreach Program, World Statistics Day, and the 16th NCS. Partner organizations, universities/colleges, and government units are strongly encouraged to participate in these interagency activities scheduled during the month-long celebration.

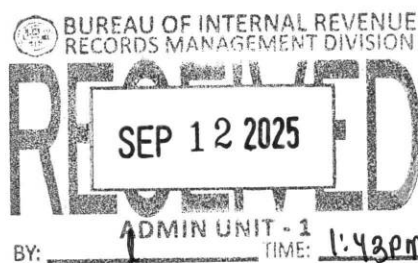

The conduct of the NCS will feature plenary sessions, panel discussions, exhibits, simultaneous scientific sessions, and trainings that highlight best practices, statistical methodologies, and data applications across different fields. Partner organizations, universities/colleges, and government units are invited to participate in the 16th NCS as registered participants, guests, speakers, presenters, session organizers/chairs, sponsors, or exhibitors.

To further amplify the visibility of this nationwide initiative, partners are requested to prominently display the official 36th NSM and 16th NCS streamer on their building façades prior to and throughout the month of October 2025. Moreover, organizations are urged to disseminate the 36th NSM calendar of activities, posters, and other standard promotional materials, provided by the 36th NSM and 16th NCS Secretariat, on their websites, social media platforms, and to their attached agencies/bureaus, respective stakeholders, and local government counterparts.
